

BARTRAM'S GARDEN

Fall Plant Sale / Honey Fest - Schedule of Events

Saturday, September 11

Plant Sale for Pollinators, 10:30am - 4:30pm

Full plant list available online at: www.bartramsgarden.org

Kids Table, 11am – 2pm

Dress up like a beekeeper and make your very own bee field guide & bee-inspired crafts! A special bee-themed performance will take place at noon.

Open Hive Talk, 12:30-1:30 pm

Take a look inside a live hive with a local beekeeper and discuss the art of beekeeping.

Botanical Illustration Meet-up, 10am-1pm

“Imaginative Drawing of Bees” Workshop, 2-4pm

Sponsored by the Da Vinci Art Alliance

Discover the basics of imaginative drawing of all things bees! The instructor, Ona Kalstein, will briefly discuss her own work as an illustrator and show some examples. Participants will design their own inspired drawings to take home with them. Supplies will be provided. Registration is limited to 12-14 people, ages 14 & up. Email amcdowell@bartramsgarden.org to register.

Vendors: Milk & Honey Market, Tangolily Designs, Pub & Kitchen

Sunday, September 12

Kids Table, 11am – 1pm

Dress up like a beekeeper and make your very own bee field guide & bee-inspired crafts! A special bee-themed performance will take place at noon.

Open Hive Talk, 12-1pm

Take a look inside a live hive with a local beekeeper and discuss the art of beekeeping.

Lecture: “History of Beekeeping in America, 1776-1810,” 1pm

Sponsored by Da Vinci Art Alliance

Discover the fascinating history of early bee keeping in America with long time beekeeper Dr. William Butler. Recently featured in Bee Culture Magazine, Dr. Butler will talk about his research about bee keeping before Langstroth and share a patent of an early Langstroth hive.

Lecture: “Bees in Art,” 2:30pm

Sponsored by Da Vinci Art Alliance

Learn how bees have been depicted in art over the years with Dr. Debra Miller, President of the Da Vinci Art Alliance.

Film: Minding the Hive, 4pm (21 min, dir. Sarah Christman)

Vendors: Diane Publishing, Chesapeake Soaps, Tangolily Designs, Art by Aaron Birk

All Weekend: General Admission Guided Tours and What's The Buzz? Art Exhibit by the Da Vinci Art Alliance in the Bartram barn